

Is your mobility solution still the best for your business?

There's one workforce attribute that creates success in today's mobile world – and that's mobility. Your people need anywhere, anyhow access to information. Content that works securely and consistently on every device, with apps that drive organisational transformation. Sounds easy, doesn't it? But it isn't.

3 reasons to talk to O₂

Reason 1.

We understand the value of the right mobility strategy.

Enterprise mobility is now an essential part of a digital strategy. And it's more than just a technology decision – mobility gives you a unique business transformation opportunity. We call our approach a mobility maturity assessment and it's how we make sure your solution and your business needs are totally aligned.

Reason 2.

Integrated security as standard.

We ask the right questions so we can deliver the right solution for your business, bringing together multi-threat protection and secure enterprise mobility solutions from the leading providers. We already securely manage more than 25m customers on over 120 different device types. And we're still the only network provider with CAS(T) certification for both our mobile and WAN networks, which means you can be sure that your data is secure.

Reason 3.

We have market leading vendor relationships.

From Apple to VMware, BlackBerry, SandBlast Mobile and beyond, we have strong relationships with our suppliers. And our teams are experts in the technology, with some of the highest supplier accreditations available.

Quite simply, we'll deliver what's right for you. A solution that's simple, flexible and secure by design, and delivered using managed services that don't add to your IT workload.

Is your mobility strategy delivering...

 Flexibility and security, and protection for tomorrow's threats as well as today's?

 Speedy ROI, with alignment to your business strategy?

 IT efficiency, allowing your teams to focus on your other valuable projects?

Rise up to the challenge

Is your mobility solution adding value to your organisation and people – or is it holding you back? Here are three key enterprise mobility challenges that O₂ can help you with.

Challenge 1.

Are you getting the most accessible yet secure solution?

Your people are already working flexibly, but they may be using outdated security or mobile device management solutions, or personal devices you have no control over. At O₂, we'll use our knowledge and experience of the solutions marketplace to recommend the right combination of mobility and security for your business. And with our strong industry relationships, we'll quickly design a highly secure solution for you.

Challenge 2.

Delivering ROI for the business.

Organisational complexity can scupper even the most-needed IT projects – so you need to be sure your mobility project is an investment, not a cost. With O₂, you're in good hands. Our tried and tested five stage process takes your project from discovery to implementation and support, run by a dedicated team and underpinned by full governance and regular updates. We can deliver proofs of concept too, so you can see how your solution will work in practice.

Challenge 3.

Reducing the load on IT teams.

Your IT teams are busy. But with the right solutions, you don't need to take resources away from other IT projects. Our mobility experts can help you quickly identify how to align your strategic needs with a mobility strategy. But we don't stop there: we can design and deliver the solution for you – including training people across all devices and operating systems. We can also manage your solution for you after go-live, with three levels of service designed to reduce the burden on your IT teams.

How ready are you?

Find out with our Mobile Maturity Assessment – a rapid analysis of your mobility strategy and your readiness to deal with future business and technology changes.

> Get started now

Get expert advice tailored to you

See how we can help you in a free discovery session. You'll meet an O₂ Mobility expert who can chat you through the options for your organisation.

> Book a free session now

Or please call us on: 01235 430068

O₂ is helping our people to do their jobs well. We have better control, better security over our full estate of devices, and it's made the user experience significantly better.

Will Cohen

Group IT Director, ISS UK

